

Bladegrip Kickstarter Launch Announcement

Greetings

I would like to let you know about Bladegrip a painting handle for painters who use 6inch craft sticks to mount miniatures. The Bladegrip Kickstarter is now live, and will run through the end of August, with both physical rewards and 3D print-your-own options.

Infomercial Speal

I am Andrew Lonon and I invented the Bladegrip as a way to improve my own painting, but I quickly recognized its potential for lots of other wargame painters. The market is flooded with single figure painting grips; to the point that they are almost de riguer. Bladegrip brings the same enhancements enjoyed by the greater community to the specialists who paint entire armies. Miniatures are mounted on a 6inch craft stick, and the craft stick is mounted on the Bladegrip: giving you a much more substantial tool to work with. Bladegrip provides more control and easier manipulation while also cutting down on hand fatigue and slips.

Features Include:

- ✧ Wide base for mounting your 6 inch craft stick
- ✧ Easy mounting and removal with sticky tack
- ✧ 4 Primary grips & Infinite secondary gripping options
- ✧ Broad spaces to 'rest' and steady your painting hand
- ✧ Large enough to brace against your body
